Sarah's Story

Names and a few identifying details have been changed to protect our client's privacy. Every case is different.

Twenty-four-year-old Sarah was pulling her son in a wagon when she arrived at a crosswalk. At the green light, she began to cross. As she did so, the driver of a heavy truck began to turn left into the crosswalk. He struck Sarah and her son. Although Sarah's son was not seriously injured, Sarah's injuries were serious.

Sarah's Traumatic Injuries

When paramedics arrived, Sarah was unable to speak coherently. Blood poured from her ear. At the local hospital, Sarah had two seizures. Cerebral spinal fluid leaked from her right ear. She was flown to a trauma centre by helicopter.

While at the trauma centre, she was referred to the acquired brain injury clinic. After more than a month, Sarah was discharged to her local hospital, where she developed a pulmonary embolism and required medication for that.

How Our Firm Helped Sarah

While Sarah was at the local hospital, Sarah's family contacted Auger Hollingsworth. Owner and co-founder Brenda Hollingsworth met with Sarah and her family twice in the hospital.

Once Sarah chose our firm to look after her case, we began organizing a team to help plan her hospital discharge and rehabilitation. Sarah began to work with occupational therapy, physiotherapy, orthopedic surgery and the acquired brain injury clinic. Sarah needed 24-hour attendant care, housekeeping assistance and childcare.

With our help, all these services were funded through the Statutory Accident Benefits.

Sarah's Lawsuit

Our lawyers began a lawsuit against the driver of the truck. During the examination for discovery, the driver admitted that he had made the turn when Sarah had the right-of-way. After the examination for discovery, we sent Sarah to experts for a medical opinion, and to calculate Sarah's economic losses, such as her loss of income and her future care costs.

Our lawyers successfully reached a strong settlement that could last Sarah's lifetime. Our firm also represented Sarah on her Statutory Accident Benefit Claim, ensured her case was categorized as a Catastrophic Injury, and helped her reach a settlement of her claim.

If you had referred this case to Auger Hollingsworth, your referral fee would have been $25,000.
