Oliver's Story

Names and a few identifying details have been changed to protect our client's privacy. Every case is different.

Oliver was safely driving his car home

through a green light at an intersection until a left-turning driver struck him. The impact projected his vehicle across the intersection and caused Oliver's head to hit the window. Oliver experienced immediate pain in his left knee, head, and back. Two days later, he visited his family doctor because of his unbearable pain.

Oliver's Traumatic Injuries

Following his accident, Oliver was diagnosed with severe orthopedic injuries to his knee, an aggravated low back pain and headaches. He also suffers from depression, anxiety and somatic symptom disorder. Oliver's injuries have severely impacted every aspect of his life. He has still not recovered from his injuries or returned to his job as a labourer. Oliver will suffer from pain and mobility issues for the rest of his life.

How our firm helped Oliver

We helped Oliver and his wife receive income replacement based on his inability to work and compensation for his pain and suffering. We also helped him secure funding for housekeeping, physiotherapy and specialist visits. Under the Family Law Act, we helped Oliver's wife receive compensation based on her loss of companionship, support, and increased responsibilities following her husband's accident.

Oliver's Lawsuit

Our firm started an accident benefits claim against the insurance company and a lawsuit against the driver who hit Oliver. The liability was clearly on the driver who hit him. Our team worked hard to calculate his expected loss of wages, future care costs, and non-economic losses, such as pain and suffering. The case was settled at mediation, as all parties could agree on a fair amount of money. Oliver was happy that he would no longer need to worry about not paying bills due to his injury and that he and his wife would be compensated for their pain and suffering.
